Sequoia Wins Grid Game With San Jose

Local School Defeats Visitors by Score 13 to 7

Outplaying their opponents in all stages of the game, Coach Carleton's 130-pound Sequoia football team turned the tables of the San Jose lightweight gridders on the Sequoia turf Wednesday afternoon and won by a score of 13 to 0. Two weks ago when the two teams met on the Garden City gridiron, the "Prune Pickers" came out victorious by a count of 7 to 0.

Sequoia made its first score near the end of the second quarter, when Eddie Cullen shot one of his many bullet-like passes to Maloney and the latter scampered across the goal line. Prader failed to convert. The Cherokees threatened to score again before the quarter ended, when Cullen got off to a pretty 45-yard end run and a few minutes later Gutteriz intercepted a San Jose pass after Sequoia had lost the ball on downs, and scampered to the visitors' 15-yard line. The gun ended the half before the locals could line up for another play.

San Jose blocked Sequoia's kick on the latter's ten-yard line and recovered the ball, just at the end of the third quarter. On four thrusts through the line the visitors crashed over for a touchdown and added the extra point on a line play.

Undismayed by this turn of events, Carleton's men got down to real business, determined to win. Cullen, Gutteriz and Prader began ripping off big gains through the line and around end. With the ball on the San Jose 40-yard line Cullen let loose another of his famous line drive passes, which Gutteriz took out of the arms of a couple of San Jose men, and before he was stopped carried the ball to the 10-yard line. In the third play Cullen dashed through right tackle for a touchdown. Prader dropped kick for the extra point.

With the field in almost complete darkness by this time, San Jose following the kick off, tried desperately to put over a long forward pass for a touchdown, but were hopeless against the defense of the Sequoians. The gun sounded with the ball deep in the San Jose territory.

S. F. To Offer $150,000 For Mills Field

Arrangements To Be Completed By Telephone

San Francisco will offer Ogden Mills, owner of the famous Mills estate at Millbrae, $150,000 for the air port built by the city of San Francisco upon his property. On Tuesday Mayor Rolph telegraphed to Mills asking him to set a date for a telephone conversation to settle the terms for the sale of the property. At that time Mayor Rolph will offer Mills, who is in New York, the $150,000 authorized by the San Francisco supervisors. He believes that Mills will accept the offer.

Members of the committees—City Engineer M. M. O'Shaughnessy, City Attorney, John J. O'Toole and Right-of-Way Agent, Joseph Phillips—will be in the room with the mayor listening in on the conversation and help him if he needs techinical or legal advice.

Compromise Is Reached

The compromise agreement was reached by the mayor and committee members, after the Board of Supervisors, at Rolph's suggestion, authorized immediate negotiations to acquire the field and gave him and committee members joint authority to buy it for $150,000.

If Mills accepts the offer, Phillips and other city officials will be sent east to arrange attendant details. Rolph indicated he believed Mills will accept the offer.

"It is a fair price and I believe Mr. Mills, now that he has decided to let us have the site, will not quibble over a few dollars," the mayor told the meeting.

"As nearly all ex... g troops were strengthened to m... imum membership by the recen... drive, new ones must be formed to ... accomodate the attached "rookies," and they cannot be formed until men are ready to take charge of them, as each troop must have a scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster and at least three committeemen. Any male citizen of the United States who is over 21 years of age and is of good moral character will be gratefully enrolled by Field Executive Edward A. Barrer. While it is desirable that the scoutmaster should have as much preliminary training as possible before he assumes charge of a troop, many "outdoor" men who understand boy nature are qualified for such leadership. Each leader is responsible for the execution of the Scout program in his troop and for the morale of its members. He works under the general supervision and in co-operation with his troop committe and the local council, and is authorized to select his assistants.

"Any man who voluntarily gives a portion of his time and energy to helping develop boy character through the medium of the Scout program is an American citizen with highets ideals of citizenship, as he trains others to uphold the truest that the scoutmaster.. should have standards of democracy.

The scoutmaster is amply rewarded by the satisfaction of knowing that through his efforts boys who otherwise might be roaming the streets of cities are roaming the hills and woods and breathing the healthful air of the big outdoors."

TAX COLLECTOR FINDS COLLECTIONS GOOD

The great slump in the stock market did not in anyway interfere with the collection of county taxes by A. McSweeney, the popular official whose duty it is to visit the numerous municipalities annually. During the week he has visited many localities in the county and reports that the collections have been better than ever in the history of his office. The taxpayer appeared enthusiastic and ready to pay, in some instances paying the both installments. All appreciated the 18 cents reduction in the rate. Outside of incorporated cities this reduction amounted considerable to the small tax payer who always feels the burden. Mr. McSweeney spoke highly of the apparent prosperity of the county.

He will complete his work of outside collecting next week. The Runnymede section will be visited on Monday.

Suicide Found Near Skyline

Picnic Party Finds Body; Hear Shot Fired

A dismal note was injected into what was to have been a happy picnic party Wednesday for the Al Davies family of 500 Oak street, San Francisco, with the finding of the body of Alfred Mittoni of 1268 Grant avenue, San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies and family were picnicking near the Skyline road and the intersection of the Tunitas road at what was formerly known as Crabb Town. While eating their lunch they heard a shot, but paid no particular attention to it, thinking it to be a near-by hunter.

After the picnic, Davies went in search of water and found the body of a man still holding a shot gun. The gun had been fired by the man's toe, while he held the muzzle of the gun close to his head. Before firing the gun he had drawn a brown army blanket over his head.

The dead man was identified by Deputy Sheriffs Callaghan and Rhodes, who were summoned, as Alfred Mittoni, a laborer of San Francisco, who had formerly conducted a soft drink place in the city.

Upon Mittoni was a note in Italian addressed to his brother, Louis. Translated it read: "Keep the collection for my dear brother Louis. I am committing suicide for not tribulating any longer in the lunatic house or in hospitals. Excuse me to the family for having lost my mind. I thought to have put an end to myself. Al"

Mittoni in addition to his brother, Louis, is survived by his parents in Italy. An inquest will be held by Coroner J. C. McGovern at the parlors of the James Crowe Company.

Kiwanians Told Safety Measures

What to do and how to do it in order to try to save the life of a person, who has met with an accident, was explained to the members of the Redwood City Kiwanis Club at their luncheon at the Hotel Sequoia Wednesday by F. C. Dickinson, safety enginer of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Approximately 90,000 people died in the United States last year as a result of accidents, said the speaker, and the lives of many of these people could have been saved, had the proper methods, particularly in the case of suffocation, either through asphyxiation, electrocution or drowning, been used in time.

A practical demonstration of using artificial respiration in life saving was demonstrated by Mr. Dickinson.

Statistics given by the speaker, showed that in addition to the 90,000 persons dying last year as a result of accidents, there were approximately 10,000,000 seriously injured in the United States.

Charles L. Dimmitt acted as chairman of the meeting.

"White Collars" To Be Shown Saturday Night

By WAWONA WASHBURN

Have you reserved your tickets for "White Collars," to be presented at 8:15 p. m. in the Sequoia auditorium Saturday night?

If not, you'd better do so at Ryan's drug store or the high school, because if all reports are true, tickets are going fast. "White Collars" is the first play to be put on Sequoia this year and is the Junior Class annual play.

"White Collars" is a comedy in three acts by Edith Ellis. "The Idle Rich" was the screen version of the play which had a long run in New York before being played in San Francisco.

The play is modern with New York as its locale. There are altogether nine characters, each portraying some phase of every day life.

William Van Luyn is a wealthy lawyer who marries his secretary and attempts to establish himself into his wife's middle class home.

Joan Thayer is a refined girl whose family has sent her through college. She is in every sense of the word a refined, educated girl.

Helen, her sister, is just "stenog." She's not so educated, so cultured, but she has a heart of romance and dreams. And to her Joan's husband is a fairy king.

Henry, the cousin, is a man of high hopes and ideals, thinking more than actually doing, but bent on fixing up a new plan of livlihood for his "great middleclass."

Mr. and Mrs. Thayer are the typical middle class parents, hoping for and sheltering their children, rather settled and reconciled to their middle class lives.

Frank, the son, is the boy. He's not happy because he thinks himself a failure. But he's got something to him, and he finanlly decided to "learn a trade."

Sally Van Luyn is rich, cultured, and positive of herself. Her whole attitude is one of superiority—she's a "Van Luyn, you know."

Tom Gibney is just a plain, narrow minded youth in the garb of truck driver and Helen's suitor.

Saturday night's cast will be as follows: Louie Nelson, William Van Luyn; Evelyn Wild, Joan; Wawona Washburn, Helen; Andy Bright, Henry; Edward Kilbourne and Anna Isaackson, Mr. and Mrs. Thayer, respectively; Jay McCrae, Frank; Dorothy Wiley, Sally Van Luyn; and Kermite Plowman, Tom Gibney.

The congressman, on an inspection recently praised the progress being made on construction of a cruiser and submarine. A new bridge, operated gratis by the government, is now being used to cross the Mokelumne River from Amador County to Calvaras County. Many years ago the Big Bar bridge, as it is known, was a famous toll bridge. Joaquin Murietta, notorious bandit, used the bridge many times, always evading the toll charge. Pedestrians were charged 25 cents to cross. A horse and buggy took in 75 cents for a round trip. The bridge was also the site of many bloody battles betwen the Indians and the Chinese settlers.

The institute, with headquarters in Los Angeles, has also as directors, Luther Mayo, Robert A. Odell and Frank L. Meline of Los Angeles and A. L. Sonderegger of La Verne.

Contractors who bid on pier contracts for the proposed Golden Gate bridge must familiarize themselves with conditions confronting them and not complain about eventualities after the contract is awarded. This was the edict laid down by the bridge district board of directors. Another peculiarity in the specifications is that no contractor can work his men more than eight hours daily, while at the same time the construction work must proceed day and night if Joseph Strauss, engineer of the project, so rules.

Evidence in support of this belief has been unearthed through excavations of Indian mounds near these two cities by W. Egbert Schenck and Elmer J. Dawson of the University of California. The two scientists in announcing their findings expressed the opinion that the great central valley of California has changed little since that time.

Means of preventing the construction of billboards on the new scenic Salinas-Monterey highway, which opened recently were discussed at a meeting of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors. Every effort, it was intimated, will be made to preserve the natural beauty of the route. An effort will be made to obtain an agreement from property owners to keep signs of all descriptions off the lands along the roadway. Many voluntarily have agreed to do this.

Steps have been taken by the Tehama County Board of Supervisors for the immediate improvement of a one and three-quarters mile strip of road, the only unimproved portion of the six miles of road linking Lassen Volcanic National Park with the Red Bluff-Susanville highway. The road will be graded this fall and put in shape for surfacing next spring before the heavy summer travel to the park begins.

After remaining closed for several months, with its $100,000 worth of machinery idle, the Santa Cruz tannery will again be reopened to produce the fancy leather goods for which that city is famous. A. K. Salz, new owner, states that 25 men will be employed and that products will be shipped throughout America and the Orient. This is one of the few remaining tanneries in California.

Four bay cities, San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda held their places in the front ranks of the nation in the 1928 report of infant mortality, released by the Department of Health. Based on ratio of deaths per 1000 births for cities over 250,000 population, San Francisco was third with forty-six. Oakland was first in the nation for cities of 100,000 to 250,000, with forty-seven. Berkeley was frist in the 5,000 to 100,000 class with thirty-one, and Alameda was first in the 25,000 to 50,000 division with twenty-five. Long Beach was the only Southern California city to place in any division ranking third to Berkeley with a score of thirty-eight. Rates of mortality are high in the South due to the high percentage of Mexican population, said Guy P. Jones, Department of Health publicist.

Oroville's contribution in 1929-30 to county government and county school taxes amounts to $114,000, according to Mrs. Lucy A. Richards, Butte County auditor. The sum represents taxes paid on property in the city.

San Jose may get as a gift a Zeppelin mooring mast and an aerial beacon tower, according to Lambert Skillman, water works contractor. Officials of the Oakland airport are considering purchasing the mast, according to Skillman, but he has offered San Jose the opportunity of accepting it as a gift.

Assurance of early construction of needed buildings at Yountville veterans' home and at Mendocino State Hospital for the insance was forthcoming as the division of architecture called for bids on one project and announced award of contracts for the other. J. S. Hannah of San Francisco, will construct two wards at the Talmadge institution for $99,900, while plumbing and heating contracts were given the Nottingham Heating and Ventilating Company of Oakland for $19,666, and electrical work awarded to the Collins Electric Company of Stockton, for $2983.

YOUTH PAYS HOMAGE TO HERO

© HARRIS & EWING

Among the first to observe Armistice day in Washington were the Boy Scouts of America, who journeyed to Arlington National cemetery, where they paid a colorful tribute to America's Unknown Soldier.

World's Best Fed Into the Red Furnace

To this generation everywhere in the world the Eleventh Day of November will always be a Day of Days. This is the eleventh anniversary of the Armistice that ended the greatest and most terrible, the most hateful and the most fateful of all wars. In the greater nations of the earth it will be marked by the roar of ceremonial guns, by the assembling of great crowds and among the more thoughtful by earnest searchings of the heart.

There is no day in the calendar like this. Eleven years ago the guns ceased so suddenly that the world could not believe the hour of its deliverance had indeed come. The Americans had fought a slow and terrible way through the Argonne, across the Meuse and were deep in the Woevre plain. The French had all but cleared their soil of the last invader. The British were back at the smoking coal pits of Mons, and far down the Sambre they were sweeping through the "lost towns" of Belgium.

Twilight of the Gods.

Austria had gone down in the smoke of supreme disaster. The Hapsburgs had passed into the shadows and the dust of history. In Berlin, soldiers were throwing away their iron crosses and the naval mutineers were flying the red flag at Kiel. The Twilight of the Gods was falling upon the Ludendorffs and Von Moltkes. German emissaries had gone under a flag of truce to the forest of Compiegne. The wheel had swung full circle. It was time for the Great Accounting, for the reckoning of crimes and the fixing of punishments:

The Gods alone
Remember everlastingly; they strike
Remorselessly and ever like for like.
By their great memories the Gods are known.

And the world waited for the word from the woods of northern France, where Foch faced Von Gundell across a narrow table and a new chapter of history was opening. There, eleven yeas ago, while the murmur of fighting and the flicker of gunfire still ran from the North sea to the plains of Alsace, the remaking of the world map was begun.

Problems Still to Solve.

It still proceeds, less swiftly than in the forest of Compiegne or around the peace table of Versailles. The forces loosed both by the war and by the peace have yet to run their courses. Nor have all the gains and losses of the war been assessed. The gains were incalculable, but eleven years after only few of them are finally and securely won. We still are wrestling with the problems of disarmament and with the hideous legacy of wartime passions.

The greatest losses fell upon the Country of the Young. The flower of humanity, the strongest, the most spirited, the hope of their generation, had marched by the millions into the Red Furnace.

Armistice day belongs both to the Quick and the Dead. It is a yearly testimonial to all the fallen, whether it is celebrated at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, at the cenotaphs, the battle gates or the arches of triumph or in some quiet country place far from the flags and the music of ceremony. The crowds and the solemn processions bear annual witness that these dead have not died altogether in vain and that their memory will endure so long as men set honor and courage above ease and contentment.

For the living it is a reminder that war has not forever gone and that its madness lurks deep in the race. This and the lessons of duty, of devotion, of self-sacrifice and of discipline are the supreme lessons of the struggle that ended eleven years ago today. On this and on every Eleventh of November, despite the disillusions and despairs of Peace, humanity can look back to that cold, gray autumn morning of 1918 and remind itself that once, at least, it touched the very peaks of human greatness.

Iron Crosses and Beer for Signal Boys

Eleven o'clock, November 11, 1918, which brought joy and thanksgiving to large numbers of the A. E. F., was merely another one of those days to the gallant members of B company, Three Hundred and First Field Signal battalion, once of the Seventy-sixth division, who were winning the war by keeping open communication by telephone between French points of command and detachments of negro infantry, C. C. Rodenbach recalls writing in the Chicago Daily News.

The order came over the wires the night before to spread the good news that the war was officially over at eleven o'clock the next morning. But these same signal choristers had been fooled once before on such reports of peace. Back some time in October there was a rumor of armistices. But the rumors had never reached the Germans, for they treacherously let loose a flock of shells when all of the switchboarders not on duty were on their way down the hill for beer.

Stop for Vin Blanc.

This order, however, was authentic. At eleven o'clock the daily interchange of desultory firing ceased. There was no switching to do, and the boys went down one hill and over another to ward the late foeman and his souvenirs.

Inasmuch as the gallant soldiery had not discharged its revolvers at the foe before the armistice, it was considered advisable to hold target practice after the armistice. The choristers selected a tree as a target. Nobody hit a tree, but somebody almost hit a lieutenant. It made him very angry, indeed.

"Didn't anybody tell you," he asked, "that there was to be no more firing after eleven o'clock? I could have you court martialed for this."

"Yes, sir," said the choristers, and continued toward the foeman less jauntily.

The foeman was opening a large keg of black beer at the time the signal boys showed up. The collar on the brew was very tall and frothy, and was described by the barkeep pro-tem as "eein Chicago koller." After a few seidels, the barter for souvenirs began. America may have won the war, but Germany got back most of its reparations on its souvenirs. Iron crosses, which had been issued the troops along with the rations, were still wrapped in their tissue paper, and changed into American possession for 50 francs apiece—and that was when a franc was a franc.

Get Souvenirs and Beer.

The signal boys got all the souvenirs they could buy or barter, and all the beer they could hold, and were about to start back, when an important-looking automobile bounded into view. Out of it came a fat, red-faced colonel, of the same shape, but not the same temper as Santa Claus.

"What are you men doing here?" demanded the colonel. "Don't you know there is to be no fraternizing with the enemy? Don't you know I could have you court martialed for this?"

"Yes, sir," said the choristers, and made off toward home, leaving to the colonel and his staff what remained of the iron crosses and the beer.

LESSON OF WAR

—New York World

"That these dead shall not have died in vain."

NOVEMBER 11, 1918—ARMISTICE DAY—NOVEMBER 11, 1929

THE PACT—By Alfred Noyes

They have no pact to sign—our peaceful dead.
Pacts are for trembling hands and heads grown grey.
Ten million graves record what youth has said,
And cannot now un-say.

They have no pact to sign—our quiet dead.
Whose eyes in that eternal peace are drowned.
Age doubts and wakes, and asks if night be fled;
But youth sleeps sound.

They have no pact to sign—our faithful dead.
Theirs is a deeper pledge, unseen, unheard,
Sealed in the dark, unwritten, sealed with red;
And they will keep their word.

They have no pact to sign—our happy dead.
But if, O God, if WE should sign in vain,
With dreadful eyes, out of each narrow bed,
Our dead will rise again.

—New York Times.

Didn't Know That War Was Ended Until Month After Armistice Had Been Signed

Armistice day, for millions of ex-service men, is a day of rejoicing; but for former Lieut. Howard C. Knotts, D. S. C., it's just the memory of a pain in the leg.

Knotts, now a Springfield (Ill.) attorney, doesn't know just where he was on November 11, 1918—time passed uncertainly in German prison camps—but he remembers clearly the exclamation of an astounded general, more than a month later, December 14:

"Don't you know the war is over?"

Knotts didn't know. When the armistice was signed he was escaping from a prison camp. When final negotiations were being made he was hiding in the pantry of a Belgian farmhouse, nursing a very sore leg, constantly apprehensive of discovery by his erstwhile captors.

Flying low over the enemy lines October 14, Knotts was shot and captured. He escaped early in November with a fellow-casualty, John Little. Their escape hinged on the yearning of starved prisoners for imitation apple butter.

Knotts and Little were riding on a wagon drawn by fellow-prisoners on a rearward trek of prisoners. The "human horses," brooding over hunger, decided they would have some of the sergeant's imitation apple butter or refuse to draw the wagons. The two casualties crawled down and sat by a hedged road to watch the dispute. Little nudged Knotts. "Let's back through the hedge," he whispered. "They'll never miss us."

Half a mile away—the men could not have walked farther—was a farmhouse, annexed to a chateau in which were quartered German troops and officers. Miraculously escaping discovery, they were hidden in a pantry by the farmhouse mother, where four other fugitives joined them.

Meanwhile various rumors floated through to the men—the most persistent being that a 30-day armistice had been signed for burial of the dead. Then one day came the report that American troops were quartered at Spa, about nineteen miles away.

Taking what he considered a "long chance," Knotts "smuggled" a letter to the commandant at Spa, and shortly thereafter a General Rhodes took him to American headquarters.

After a few days' rest Knotts asked to be sent to his outfit, declaring he didn't want to "go back into this mess with a strange outfit" when released from the hospital. Disbelieving his ears, General Rhodes asked Knotts to repeat his statement, which he did. There followed the general's exclamation.

Looking back, Knotts still contends that his ignorance was understandable. The possibility that the war had ended was furtherest from the thoughts of the fugitives, and as Knotts says, although they might have guessed it, "you don't like to kid yourself about a thing so important when you are in a place such as we were."

Knotts is credited with destruction of eight enemy airplanes, and besides winning the Distinguished Service Cross he was cited by General Pershing and awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross (British).

POULTRY

WINTER QUARTERS NEED RIGHT CARE

Great Drawback Is Keeping Fowls Free of Vermin.

More interest among poultry raisers and "small flock" owners centers around the fall and winter season than at any other time of the year. Many flocks of chickens are ruined by lack of knowledge in caring for their winter quarters, picking out the right fowls and keeping them in shape for the long winter season to follow.

One of the greatest drawbacks of the small raiser is keeping their birds free from vermin, lice and different parasites which infest the chicken quarters. The owner is besieged with different kinds of literature on this subject, some too expensive to try and others not practical for their use. In order to raise chickens profitably one must have "building" material that will not use up all the income received. In the feeding line your feed man can, in most cases, sell you feed of the right kind at the right price. In the disinfectant line everybody has a different method and generally too expensive for the average small raiser. In this line perhaps the best is none too high, but several have been tried and proved successful.

Take a full handful of tobacco stems and soak in luke warm water for one hour, drain and use the water—adding one-half pint of kerosene and one gallon of water. Spray just before chickens go to roost. If tobacco stems are not obtainable, use smoking tobacco, a small package the same way. If too bothersome to soak tobacco get nicotine at the drug store or nursery and use two teaspoonfuls to the same proportions as tobacco.

To be sure you are getting results, place a sheet of paper on the dropping board after spraying and if the chickens have vermin you will see them drop off onto the paper.

Hens Are Tempted by Eggs Broken in Nest

One of the most common vices is egg eating, of which most poultry keepers have had some experience.

Although the habit may be formed at any period of the year there is no doubt that a large number of the outbreaks are recorded during the summer.

This is partly due to the fact that large numbers of eggs are produced, and many of them are deposited in nests devoid of litter, thus creating a tendency for the eggs to become damaged.

The habit is often the result of a broken one being left in the nest or on the manure board, to be devoured by some bird later.

Very few, if any, hens can resist the temptation, and the habit quickly spreads from one to another, developing into an epidemic which frequently proves costly for the owners. Unless the nests are kept well covered with soft material the shells are certain to get damaged. Later on other hens frequent the nests, and broken eggs follow.

Poultry Hints

Cleanliness is the best preventive of poultry diseases.

* * *

Old hens are the most common spreaders of poultry tuberculosis.

* * *

Canker is a sore throat similar to diphtheria. Remove a sick hen at once.

* * *

Generally speaking, the hens with white shanks, big red combs, and old, dirty, and ragged plumage are the ones to keep, according to the specialist.

* * *

If eggs are found in stolen nests, in the litter or otherwise, so that their condition is not absolutely known, candle such eggs before taking them to market.

* * *

A hen that is laying will have a big, red, waxy comb, but as soon as she quits, the comb will begin to shrivel.

* * *

New corn can be fed in the ear if the birds are started on it gradually, with the amount increased from day to day.

* * *

Muslin curtains, if used in ventilating poultry houses, should be clean and in good condition. The old muslin area which is clogged with dust is not an effective medium for the diffusion of the air.

* * *

In addition to mash and scratch grain hens should have free access to grit, oyster shell and water. Green feed such as cabbage or mangles is also helpful.

* * *

For winter feeding yellow corn is superior to white. The yellow types are rich in vitamine A, which is necessary to keep the birds in good health and particularly to prevent eye trouble. This vitamine is also found in green feeds, but little of it in white corn, wheat, oats, buckwheat, barley and other common feeds.

* * *

Overcrowding in the poultry house discourages production of high-priced eggs.

* * *

Pullets lay best when confined in the house during the winter months and fed a laying mash.

* * *

The general feeding value of whole oats appears to be less for poultry than for other types of live stock. The feed is high in fiber, and its feeding value is probably not more than 75 per cent that of corn. It is used in both the scratch feed and mash.

Linking Town and Country

IN ADDITION to serving the needs of our immediate community we should think in terms of our Greater Community. Our City Limits should not be the limit of our sphere of influence. One task we face today—and one of greatest importance—is the forging of a stronger link between town and country.

The first automobile had but a single cylinder. While it served its purpose after a fashion, two decades ago, progress scrapped the one-cylinder car as unsuitable for present day conditions. This is the age of multicylinder automobiles. The community that fails to cultivate actively and constantly widen its sphere of influence by a closer association of town and country has adopted one-cylinder practices in a multicylinder age.

The six cylinders that give the motive power necessary to the development of greater community relations are:

1. The development of business relations—Creation of a desire among our neighbors to seek the necessities, pleasures and conveniences of daily life here.
2. Development of better transportation and communication—Good roads, telephone, railway and bus, mail, radio, newspaper and all other contact mediums.
3. Development of better schools—Seeing that subjects are included in our school courses that meet the needs of the children in our surrounding territory, and that we maintain a high school standing.
4. Development of culture—Through library activities, lecture courses and other means of development.
5. Development of churches—Supplying the Greater Community with greater spiritual riches.
6. Development of general sociability—Increasing neighborliness, providing amusements and facilities for entertaining the Greater Community.

By hitting on all six cylinders our town can double in growth and prosperity through the active cultivation of the Greater Community.

Our growth is not measured by population alone nor prosperity merely in dollars and cents. but by the number and variety of human relationships.

Fellow citizens, let's each of us strengthen the link welding our Greater Community to

Publicity Seekers

NOW a woman drives a car for 80 hours without stopping for sleep in order to establish an endurance record for women. A boy sets up a pole in his back-yard and remains perched on the top of it for days just to make a record. One women even claims to have set the record for continuous rocking in a porch rocking chair. This rage for doing useless things just to "set a record" is getting as ridiculous as it is silly. The one purpose behind it all, of course, is to secure publicity—the ones trying for "endurance records" being far more interested in seeing their names in the papers than anything else. Just why a sane person should want such publicity is more than most of us can understand. But they do, and they continue to disgust the public, and probably will until the newspapers of the land cut out mentioning the "stunts." That will stop them in a hurry, for there'll be no more of them when there's no more publicity.

If Folks Would Only Pay Every Thirty Days

CREDIT problems increase rather than decrease with the growing demand of the neighbor that you keep up with him in his pace or mode of living.

Not that the neighbor is at fault, he isn't. It's American to keep pace and just a little distance in front if there is the barest possibility. There's someone to suffer for such a pace and the average American isn't looking for the opportunity to accept the role of sufferer.

The theme is reminded through a brief statement made to us several days ago by a merchant who has been established here for several years. His statment was in this vein: "How I wish the folks would pay their bills every 30 days. It's such a continuous source of distasteful business to have to be writing them, sending collectors after them, having them called upon three times within the period of 60 days. They don't like it, but what am I to do about it?

"I must collect if I stay in business and the public doesn't realize how important is the prompt payment of bills, for the general public isn't in business with heavy investments in merchandise to be paid for, continuous overhead for labor, lights, rent, decorations, advertising. If the public did realize such a condition, frankly, I believe that obligations wuold be met promptly."

This merchant is studying a problem that is apparent to a great many merchants and to a great number of businesses, how to combat the evil of waiting 90 days to pay a statement that is due in 30 days. Margins of profit are slashed for the merchant, he isn't able to meet his obligations at the proper time, he must curtail some of his service to the public if there isn't prompt payment of accounts.

There is no merchant who relishes the stern measures sometimes necessary to collect an account. Certainly there is no buyer who enjoys receiving from one to half a dozen statements of "account over due" within a period ranging from 30, 60 to 90 days."

With the payment of accounts there is no doubt that the general volume of business would undergo a slight depression within that period of payment, however, the revival would be far more satisfactory to the merchant and to the purchaser as well

Doing busines involves more than mere handing over goods to a customer. Merchants are interested in your good name and your excellent standing in the community, but such standing does not meet obligations that the merchant faces at regular intervals in comercial life. He would much prefer that accounts be paid on time and you in turn no doubt would be much happier from having adopted such a business-like system of doing busines in your individual way.

It Is To Be Hoped That Hunters Will Refrain

The open season for shooting quail will begin on the first of December and continue for one month. There are numerous bevies of quail in and about Menlo Park that find protection in the big estates hereabouts. The birds have been domesticated and owing to the enforcement of the game laws have materially multiplied until they may be seen on almost every street during the morning and evening. It is to be hoped the hunter will refrain from shooting these domesticated birds that are anornament to the community. The quail cannot be shot in the city limits, for an ordinance now in force prevents the discharge of firearms within that area. Boys beware. Spare these innocent little creatures that add to the attractiveness of this favored spot.

"The Menlo News" To Make Its Appearance Soon

The Menlo News, to be owned and edited by David Moore, who conducts the Mayfield News, will soon make its appearance in Menlo Park. This will make three journals for this community. With others papers coming from other places, Menlo Park ought to be well supplied with current news.

Many Remove To San Francisco For the Winter Months

P. P. Eyre has closed his beautiful home at Atherton for the winter and has gone to the city for the season. Accompanying him are his daughters, Mrs. Madison and Miss Mary Eyre. Among the other wealthy families who have taken up their abode in the city for the winter months are Mrs. Lowrey, A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Dunphy, T. Hopkins and A. Sterns.

Miss Annie Moriarty Ill At Home In Palo Alto

Miss Annie Moriarty, a former resident of Menlo Park, is quite ill at her home in Palo Alto. Her relatives are much alarmed. She comes from a pioneer family of Menlo Park.

Noted Horseman Returns From the East

William Threlkeld, the noted horseman, has arrived in Menlo Park from the east, where he took a string of horses belonging to Mr. Helman, the Los Angeles banker. The animals won nearly all the prizes in the east. Threlkeld will winter here with his prize winners.

Menlo Park Presbyterian Bazaar

The ladies of the Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church at Menlo Park will hold their annual bazaar at the Masonic hall next Thursday, Nov. 13. The sale will begin at two o'clock in the afternoon and continue through the evening. Many beautiful articles of home needle work suitable for Christmas presents and general usefulness will be on sale. Tea will be served in the afternoon and a free program in the evening. A main feature of the program will be a humorous farce, "Not a Man in the House." A candy booth will provide the usual high class home made candy. There will be a grab bag for the children. The proceds of the bazaar will go towards the new building and equipment.

Prominent Business Man of S. F Moves To Menlo Park

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morrill have taken the Pennington home on Menlo avenue for a year. Mr. Morrill is a prominent business man of San Francisco, who will join the vast army of commuters.

Musical Program Rendered At Exchange Club Meeting

The Exchange Club enjoyed its weekly luncheon at Gumwood Inn Wednesday evening. A splendid musical program was rendered by local artisits. Last Wednesday evening was ladies' night at the luncheon. Jack Parson, the noted artist, furnished the musical program for that occasion. The ladies had a delightful time and are loud in their praises of the hospitality of the Exchange Club.

Look For A Site For An Airport In Menlo Park

Parties from San Francisco were here during the week looking for a site for an airport. A tract of two hundred acres or more is desired. Very few holdings that large are left for sale. All big tracts have been subdivided.

Tomato Growers Rejoice Over The Splendid Weather

The tomato growers are rejoicing in having splendid weather at this time of the year. The tomato is still being harvested as Jack Frost has not yet touched the frail plants with his icy fingers, so the grower is reaping a rich harvest. Usually about the middle of October finds the end to the picking. It is about that time that the frost makes its appearance.

Bride and Groom Visit Father

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy were here Sunday on a visit to Dr. Ross Hardy, father of the former. The young couple were married last week.

WOODSIDE

The work of the road building crew on Manuella Road is completed. Gone is that dusty, rough and rock-strewn thoroughfare and in its place is an oil macadam surface over which it will be a pleasure to drive.

Considerable work has also been done on the "back road" skirting the base of the mountains and connecting the Kings mountain and the La Honda roads. To those of us who know its history, it is something of a shrine. For this was the "Main Street" of the old Woodside when sawmills dotted the landscape and creaking ox-teams picked their slow way over dusty roads with loads of logs to be dumped in the bay at the Embarcadero, later to be used for timbers in the building of San Francisco. Along this street, at night, the lights shone as brightly as candles and oil could shine, fortunes were gambled away, songs were sung and the music of guitar and castanets called to the dance.

One would hardly believe that this peaceful, tree-shaded road had seen such sights. But they do say that if you go there of a quiet, moon-lit night in the right mental attitude, you may still hear the ghostly snatches of song and the rythm of dancing feet that still echo among the trees.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its regular monthly meeting at the club rooms on Thursday afternoon with a large attendance present. Mrs. Owen of San Mateo and Miss Florence Boddy, the district nurse were guests and addressed the meeting. The members of the seventh grade demonstrated their abilities in an oral test on California geography.

The upper grades of the Portola School visited the Woodside School on Thursday afternoon in order that the pupils might discuss together the early history of their common valley.

A team of enthusiastic football players among the young boys here matched their skill at the game against the boys of the Damon Damon School of San Francisco on Friday last at the Paul Fay home. The local boys were defeated but expect to turn the tables at the return match scheduled for Nov. 16th.

Society

Mr. and Mrs. George Eikerenkotter celebrated their 41st wedding anniversary at their home, 408 Stambaugh street last Friday evening. Among their guests on the happy occasion were Mrs. Sophie Offerman and family, Mrs. Emma Mengel, Mrs. Elsie Hersey of Crockett, a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Eikerenkotter, Mr. Dan Mullen, Mrs. Margaret Kirste and daughters. The house in which the anniversary was celebrated is the same in which the wedding of the well-known local couple took place. Mrs. Eikerenkotter before her marriage was Miss Lillian Welch, member of a prominent pioneer family of this community.

Mrs. H. H. Duncan and Mrs. W. H. Pfaffin were joint hostesses at a bridge luncheon held at the Pfaffin home on Whipple avenue Saturday. Mrs. Paul Stevens and Mrs. Russell Fox made high scores and Mrs. J. J. Morris received the consolation prize.

Guests at the luncheon included Mesdams Wilbur Doxsee, Perry Downs, J. J. Morris, Pierce Coombs, Clifton Woodhams, Thomas W. Wilson, Earl Rush, Philip Forsyth, Emil Berndsten, Fred Irwin, Russel Fox, Mrs. Hugh Barrett Dobbs of Burlingame, Mrs. James Martin of San Carlos and Mrs. Paul Stevens of San Francisco.

Miss Katherine Belcher and Miss Ruth Brown were joint hostesses to the members of their bridge club at the home of Mrs. Cecelia H. Graves, 735 Edgewood Road, Wednesday evening. High scores were won by Miss Margaret Cullen, Miss Claire

This is the gas heater that Circulates warmth

OLD-FASHIONED gas heaters radiate dry, parching heat. You have to park right in front of them to keep warm. But the Estate Gas Heatrola circulates moist, breathable warmth.

Think of having every nook and corner in every room warm as toast on the coldest winter day. And at a saving in fuel, too. For the Gas Heatrola, with its wonderful Intensi-Fire Air Duct and other exclusive features, extracts the most heat from the least amount of gas. Clean heat, odorless heat; because of Heatrola's completely enclosed construction, perfectly safe and free from "sweating" on windows and walls.

Made in three sizes, for the thorough heating of small homes or for use as an auxiliary to the basement heating plant. Complete automatic control, if you wish.

Come in—let us demonstrate; or telephone and invite us to call at your home.

Only the Heatrola has the Intensi-Fire Air Duct—the unique device that blocks and absorbs much of the heat which in ordinary heaters goes to waste up the chimney.

Mexican Births Climb In State

By ELWOOD SQUIRES

United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 4—(UP)—Mexican births in California are increasing at an alraming rate, according to a report by Dr. Walter M. Dickie, head of the State Department of Public Health, to the governor's council.

This menace is only partially offset by the high infant mortality rates, prevailing among Mexican infants, Dr. Dickie said.

San Mateo county had 34 births by Mexicans in 1928. The state total for the year was 14,089, or 16.6 per cent of all the births in the state. The outlook for 1929 is even less encouraging, the report found, for the first six months of 1929 shows 17.7 per cent of all the births in the state to be Mexican.

High Mexican birth rates in Southern California have long been a problem, but Dr. Dickie believes that northern counties are beginning to show indications of an increased Mexican population.

"It is to be expected that Mexican birth rates will be as high in the counties at the southern end of the state," the department head stated.

"Ingress from Mexico is relatively a simple matter there and climatic conditions are conducive to permanent residence of Mexicans. It would seem, however, that there is a beginning invasion of Mexicans into the San Joaquin valley and into certain counties of northern California, where Mexican labor is now employed more extensively."

High Mexican birth rates are found by Dr. Dickie in Madera, Kern, Kings, Fresno, Merced and Tulare counties in the San Joaquin valley. Among the northern counties which show similarly high rates are Amador, Contra Costa, Placer, El Dorado, Lassen, San Benito and Tuolumne.

Mining, lumbering, railroading and manufacturing industries are held responsible for the presence of large numbers of Mexicans in these northern and central counties and the consequent high birth rates.

"An extremely high mortality rate among Mexican infants is an aid in combatting the high birth rate," declared Dr. Dickie.

"A little more than 6 per cent of all infants born in California in 1928 died during infancy, while almost 15 per cent of all Mexicans born in that year died. This high mortality rate is undoubtedly due to ignorance, lack of cleanliness, lack of care and of proper feeding."

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1929-30 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1929, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 6

An interesting competition has been conducted by a company manufacturing Bridge tables, and the hand in question and its proper bidding has been forwarded by many correspondents for the writer's opinion. The competition is now closed, and my opinion can now be freely given.

The hand is as follows:

Hearts — 6, 5, 3
Clubs — Q, 8, 4
Diamonds — 9, 4
Spades — A, K, 4, 3, 2

No score, first game. (a) What is the correct bid by dealer? Answer — One spade. (b) What is the correct bid by second hand, dealer having bid one no trump? Answer — Pass. (c) What is the correct bid by third hand, the dealer and second hand both having passed? Answer — Pass. (d) What is the correct bid by third hand, the dealer having bid one no trump and second hand having passed? Answer — Two spades.

The fourth question (d) is the most difficult as it involves the question as to the proper type of take-out of partner's no trump, second hand having passed. This hand represents a sound major suit take-out for it is a hand that contains a justifiable original bid. See the first question (a).

In the preceding article the following hands from an English competition were given for the consideration of our readers:

Z is always the dealer and the other players sit around the table as follows:

	Y
	Z

1. Z Y 18; A B nil in rubber game, where Z bids "Two Spades," and A and Y say "No Bid," what should B say, holding Spades, 8, 6; Hearts, A, 10, 9; Diamonds, A, K, 4; Clubs, A, K, Q, J, 4?

2. At love all in the first game, where Z says "No Bid"; A, "One Heart"; Y, "Two Clubs," what should B say, holding Spades, J, 10, 9, 6, 5; Hearts, 9; Diamonds, A, K, 9, 5; Clubs, A, 10, 7?

3. At love all in rubber game, where Z bids "Three Spades", what should A say, holding Spades, K, 9, 7, 6, 5; Hearts, K, Q, J, 10, 8, 3, 2; Diamonds, 4; Clubs, none?

4. Z Y one game, no score in second game, where Z bids "One No-Trump" and A "Two Hearts", what should Y say, holding Spades, K, 5, 4, 3, 2; Hearts, K, J, 10, 9, 7; Diamonds, none, Clubs, A, 8, 6?

5. At love all in rubber game, where Z bid "Two Spades," what should A say, holding Spades, Q, 6; Hearts, A, K, Q, J; Diamonds, K, Q, J, 5; Clubs, A, J, 4?

6. Z Y nil, A B 18 in rubber game, where Z bids "One No-Trump" and A "Two Diamonds," what should Y say, holding Spades, A, 9, 6, 4, 3; Hearts, 9, 6; Diamonds, 7, 6, 4; Clubs, 8, 5, 3?

7. At love all in rubber game, where the bidding was: Z, "One Heart"; A, "Two Clubs"; Y and B, "No Bid"; Z, "Two Diamonds"; and A, "No Bid," what should Y say, holding Spades, J, 6, 4; Hearts, Q, 7; Diamonds, 8, 6; Clubs, A, K, 10, 8, 4, 3?

8. At love all in rubber game, where the bidding was: Z, "One Spade"; A, "Double"; Y, "Two Diamonds"; B, "Two Spades"; Z, "Two No-Trumps"; A, "Double"; Y, "Three Diamonds;" B and Z, "No Bid"; A, "Double"; Y and B, "No Bid", what should Z say, holding Spades, A, Q, 9, 5, 4; Hearts, K, 10, 5; Diamonds, none; Clubs, K, Q, J, 6, 4?

9. At love all in first game, what should Z say, holding Spades, J, 9, 8; Hearts, A, 9; Diamonds, A, K, Q, J, 9, 7, 5; Clubs, 5?

10. Z Y 20; A B 18 in rubber game, where Z bids "One Heart" and A "One Spade"; what should Y say, holding Spades, 4, 2; Hearts, 9, 8, 5, 2; Diamonds, 3, 2; Clubs, Q, J, 6, 4, 3?

11. At love all in rubber game, what should Z say, holding Spades, K, Q, 8, 6; Hearts, K, J, 7; Diamonds, K, Q; Clubs, 10, 6, 5, 3?

12. Z Y 18; A B 12 in rubber game, where Z bids "One No-Trump"; A, "Double"; Y, "No Bid"; B, "Two Spades"; and Z, "Three Hearts"; what should A say, holding Spades, K, 10; Hearts, A, K, 4; Diamonds, Q, J, 9, 4, 3; Clubs, K, 10, 5?

The decision of the English Judges was as follows:

1. Double	7. No Bid
2. Two Spades	8. No Bid
3. No Bid	9. One No-Trump
4. Double	10. No Bid
5. Double	11. One No-Trump
6. Two Spades	12. No Bid

The writer would concur with these decisions, except in hands No. 7 and No. 9. With hand No. 7, the proper bid is undoubtedly two hearts. Y has better assistance in hearts and that suit is also the first one bid by his partner and therefore the one that he prefers. With hand No. 9 the proper bid is one diamond. To bid one no trump with this type of hand, with two suits unprotected, is very unsound. The diamond bid will give the other players a chance to bid and thus give the dealer a better line on his chances for game, at diamonds or no trump. The original bid, however, should be one diamond.

Still Wrangling

25 YEARS AGO

Times-Gazette, Nov. 12, 1904

Asa T. Weeks, who has been in the far north for the past two years, was in town Tuesday.

Charles Stilleson, who has been in Valparaiso for some time, is visiting his brother, Chris.

Mrs. F. S. Thompson and three children, who have been spending the past few weeks in Sonoma county, returned home yesterday.

Samuel Berry, a resident of Redwood City for the past year, will leave today for an extended visit to his old home in Rhode Island.

The members of the Foresters of America will enjoy an icecream social at their hall this evening. The object of the meeting is the formation of a Companion of the Forest Circle. Plans will be discussed with the ladies, who have been invited, relative to the formation of the order.

The Missionary tea at the Congregational church Thursday night was well attended. The principal talks of the evening were by Rev. C. C. Kirtland and F. H. Thorpe. The remarks of both were interesting and showed deep thought on the subject of missions. Upon adjournment of the business session, refreshments were served.

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Pipkin that they enjoyed their visit to the eastern states to the fullest extent. They are at present with Mrs. Pipkin's mother in Kansas City, but expect to spend the remainder of the month at Mr. Pipkin's old home in Springfield. According to their present arrangements they will not return until January 1, 1905.

The dedication of Roosevelt Park last Monday night was an occasion long to be remembered. At 7:30 o'clock the local band headed a large procession to the corner of Mound and Heller streets, where the park is located, and there appropriate exercises were conducted. After several selections by the band Max Sporel delivered a dedicatory oration. Mr. Sporel's remarks were convincing and to the point. He spoke with pride of our town and of what a benefit the park would be. After the exercises a topping-off service was held in Hose Company No. 2's house.

A GOOD ICE BOX GIVES A TEMPERATURE OF LESS THAN 50°*

The Story of Two Sponges

Moisten two sponges. Place one in a well-iced refrigerator—and one in a mechanical substitute for ice refrigeration.

The sponge placed in the ice box will stay moist.

The sponge placed in the mechanical substitute will get hard and dry.

And that's what happens to foods as well.

Only an ICE box keeps foods moist and fresh AS WELL as cold—only ICE preserves their natural juices and flavors.

Don't be tempted to buy an expensive substitute for ice that lacks this essential of good refrigeration; and don't be without ice a single day.

AMBITIONS OF GREAT ACTOR ARE ACHIEVED

Lionel Barrymore Finally Won From Stage To Screen Rises to New Heights As Director of "Madame X"

Lionel Barrymore, who directed Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's all talking picture "Madame X," coming Sunday and Monday to the Sequoia Theatre, like his brother, John, and sister, Esther, was predestined for theatrical stardom. While a young man studying dramatic art in Paris, he started to develop his latent musical and artistic talents and, according to his closest friends, might easily have made a name for himself as concert pianist or painter had not the call of the footlights and the appeal of his family won him back to his hereditary vocation.

After appearing in such Broadway stage successes as Peter Ibbestson's "The Coperhead," "The Jest," and "The Claw", Barrymore became increasingly interested in the new pictorial medium that was just being developed by D. W. Griffith and other pioneers. In 1908 he first stepped on a picture set to work in Griffith's "Friends' with Mary Pickford and Henry B. Walthall. Barrymore was pleased with the results, but for some time hesitated between stage and screen, uncertain whether he wanted to devote himself exclusively to one of the other. However after the stage production, "Laugh, Clown, Laugh," he returned permanently to Hollywood. His pictures include: "The Barrier," "The Lion and the Mouse,' "The Thirteenth Hour" and "Alias Jimmy Valentine.' With the advent of talking films his remarkable expressive voice made him a figure more than ever in demand.

But Barrymore's ambition, often expressed to friends, was to direct pictures. Sporadic pleas to coast executives brought to response that he was too valuable an actor to waste his time amid the perils of directorial work. Finally he was given "Confessiop," a two-reel talking subject, to direct. Company officials were delighted. When Willard Mack was assigned to screen preparation of "Madame X" an old friend of Mack's was made director. After finishing this piece he wasn't given time for a fishing trip in the mountains before he was hurried over to another set and told to handle the all-talking production of Ben Hecht's "The Green Ghost." Apparently it isn't easy for a Barrymore to fail in anything he undertakes.

"Too much direction tends to make an actor mechanical," said Barrymore recently. "I think the most practical system is to 'sell' the idea, then allow the player to portray it with voice and gesture. No director has a monopoly on intelligence.

"There are really no set rules for dramatic construction. Anything that entertains and tells a story effectively is good drama. Subjects that would have been held impossible for the screen treatment a few years ago are accepted today."

Good, natural voices, in Barrymore's opinion are far less important than screen personality, for the latter quality cannot be simulated, where it is totally non-existent, while even a poor voice may be "built up."

"This hue and cry about good voices," he commented, "seems to me to represent an exaggerated set of conditions. Practically every screen star who has had a voice test has found the result good enough to justify going into the talkies.

Many noted stage actors have had poor voices. The personality behind the voice and the lines the actor has to speak are the vital factors.

"The fact that many of the chief players in "Madame X", such as Ruth Chatterton, Lewis Stone and Raymond Hackett, had stage experience before trying talking films, does not mean that a player possessessing such a background always has a big advantage. Miss Chatterton, Stones and Hacket also have fine screen personalities."

ONE OUT OF EVERY TEN RUN AFOUL OF MOTOR VEHICLE LAW

One out of every ten do it—run afoul of the state motor vehicle laws while driving on California highways.

This ratio is based on the fact that approximately 200,000 motorists will be stopped on the highways this year by state traffic officers for infringement of provisions of the California Vehicle Act, according to figures reported to the California State Automobile Association.

Of this number, approximately 100,000 will be arrested and of those arrested about 25,000 will pay fines aggregating a half million dollars.

These estimates are based on figures of the law enforcement bureau of the Division of Motor Vehicles for the first secen months of the year.

Defective lights caused the most arests with 31,818. Speding brought 7,765 arrests, and reckless driving was next with 1,458. Less than one per cent of the arrests made were for driving while intoxicated.

These figures are for the state highway patrol only, and do not consider the arrests made by county and city traffic officers.

It is expected that there will be a considerable reduction in arrests for improper or defective lights in view of the campaign that is now being waged on this section of the Motor Vehicle Act. The California Committee on Public Safety, a statewide organization of representative bodies in the state, sent out warnings the first half of October that beginning the fifteenth of the month, citations would be issued for defective lights. Scores of arrests have been made, and it is believed that these with the warnings issued will tend to call the attention of motorists to their lights and wholesale adjustments will be in order.

While Superintendent Eugene W. Biscailuz of the California Highway Patrol is continuing the period of intensive enforcement until November 8, enforcement officers through the state will continue indefinitely their endeavors to eliminate faulty lights from street and highway. Motorists should co-operate with the committee and the enforcement agencies in minimizing preventable accidents due to headlight violations.

Y. M. I. Planning District Meeting

A district initiation will be held in the Foresters hall this evening by the Redwood Council Y. M. I. Twenty candidates from San Jose, Menlo Park and Redwood City will be initiated.

The degree team is composed of members from San Francisco council. A short business meeting will be held just preceeding the initiation. Afterward a banquet and entertainment will be enjoyed.

Ernest Hecht is chairman of the local committee. In addition to members from the district councils, many visitors are expected from all parts of the bay region.

Youth's Body Not Found In Surf

A searching party headed by Constable Fred Simmons of Halfmoon Bay ended its efforts yesterday to locate the body of Jack Andrews, 28, of San Francisco, who was drowned at Tunitas Glen Sunday. Andrews, a member of a Y. M. C. A. party, jumped into the surf to save the life of Aramas Saarinen, who had become overpowered by the heavy surf. He succeeded in helping Saarinen to safety, but when almost to the beach, was bowled over by a heavy comber and carried out to sea.

A long search was made for Andrew's body along the coastline of the county, but was finally abandoned, as it is believed that the ocean currents had carried it out to sea.

EAGER, healthy children — they're most emphatic in their verdict of "Goody!" And their plump, sturdy little bodies testify to the excellence of our creamy milk.

Mentor of the Illini Grid Team

Bob Zuppke as He Appears in Action.

Just one coach in the Big Ten has seen longer service than Robert C. Zuppke who is on his seventeenth year at the University of Illinois. That is A. A. Stagg, who is on his thirty-eighth year at Chicago.

In this time Zuppke's teams have established a noteworthy record by winning seven Big Ten titles, including honors for the past two years. More than that, these feats have been against the strongest teams in the conference.

Under Zuppke the Illini have a margin of at least one victory over every Big Ten rival with the exception of Michigan which leads the series, five games to four, by virtue of the upset at Ann Arbor last season.

The master of the Illini has coached many stars, and also such elevens as the 1927 champion team which was known as the "starless" squad but bowled over one adversary after another.

Runner Ray Barbuti May Be Reinstated by A. A. U.

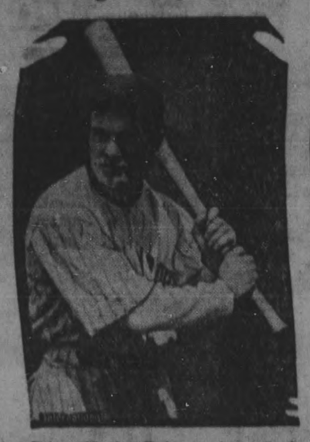
Ray Barbuti, the only American runner to win at the Olympic games, who has been under suspension for throwing mud at the A. A. U. and some of its approved "amateurs," may be reinstated.

President Brundage admits that there may be some truth in what Barbuti said, but holds that the stories were greatly exaggerated.

There will always be some undercover work when a large group of men is subjected to financial temptation. Some will fall for offers of big money. Even if Barbuti's charge were correct in every way there seems no real reason to condemn the A. A. U. as an organization. Black sheep will be found in the big flocks, everywhere.

The real people to blame and to be punished are the promoters of events who connive with athletes, or tempt them with big offers.

Tigers Buy Funk



Elias Funk, Hollywood outfielder, who was sold to the Detroit club of the American league for a sum reported to be $15,000 and two ball players. Funk reports to Detroit next spring. Funk formerly played with the St. Paul club of the American association. He has been the outstanding outfielder of the Pacific Coast league.

Plans for Post-Season Army-Navy Contest Fail

Secretary of War Good said that efforts to arrange a post-season football game between West Point and Annapolis for this season had failed.

He added, however, that efforts were being made by himself and Secretary of the Navy Adams to get the service institutions to resume athletic relations on a basis suitable to them. He said he and Mr. Adams had discussed calling the superintendents of the institutions together to see if they could not work out a satisfactory plan. Mr. Good added, jokingly, that the Navy "wanted parity."

Rockne Tells Coaches to Abandon Pessimism

Knute Rockne has become an optimist. Rockne, whose prospects for winning football teams at Notre Dame usually cause him to speak in a melancholy manner before a season opens, now will "present a more or less radiant picture of my prospects," he told a group of coaches at the Northwestern university summer school.

"Pessimism as applied to football," Rockne said, "has been worked to death. It is time to swing back the other way and accept our problems with a more cheerful outlook."

About Connie Mack

Connie Mack learned baseball from the ground up. He broke into the majors as a Washington catcher in 1886. He became manager of the Athletics in 1900.

He won pennants in 1902, 1903, 1910, 1911, 1913, 1914 and 1929, his team becoming world champions by defeating the Cubs in 1910 and the Giants in 1911 and 1913.

He is sixty-seven and has indicated that he will continue as the A's manager.

Hal Janvrin, former star of the Boston Red Sox, is still playing ball for Quincy in the Boston Twilight league.

Detroit Tigers amassed 1,679 hits to lead the American league in 1929, but also committed the most errors, with 244.

The oldest event for three-year-olds in the United States is the Travers stake which was first run at Saratoga in 1834.

The record fielding average for an outfielder in the major leagues is .994, set by Nemo Leibold of the Senators during the season of 1924.

The value of the Belmont Park Futurity has grown from $26,110 in 1908, won by Maskette, to $105,730, captured by Whichone this year.

Italy is fast becoming a sporting nation. Besides auto and bike racing, soccer, basket ball and track, another rapidly growing sport is boxing.

* * *

Roy Sayles, Lions' club president in Seattle, has missed only two home games played by University of Washington football teams in the last 15 years.

The highest scoring game in modern organized baseball was played between Philadelphia and the Cubs in August, 1922, the latter winning by a score of 26 to 23.

Novel Fight Plan

No pugilist should be acclaimed world champion unless he has first become champion in his own country, in the opinion of Heinz Michaelis, veteran German sports writer.

He believes the best interests of the boxing sport are not served if financially powerful American managers can determine what fighters shall be matched against each other to determine world championships in pugilism or any other sport, for that matter.

CARNEGIE REPORT ASSAILS COLLEGES

Findings of Three-Year Investigation Show Laxity.

Their methods of recruiting and "hiring" athletes today brought a virtual indictment against many of America's leading colleges and universities by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Education.

The extensive report branded as "the Fagins of American sport and American higher education" those who "tempt young men to barter their honesty for the supposed advantages of a college course."

The "Big Ten," whose football teams are so popular in the Middle West, was caught in the withering fire of the report. Only two of them were found clean—the University of Chicago and the University of Illinois.

The "Big Three" was caught, too. Harvard and Princeton were found guilty of bad practices. Yale, however, was cleared.

In the football games played thus far, it is gratifying to note that kicking has been an important factor and that the running and forward pass game has been used extensively, writes Walter Eckersall in the Chicago Tribune. The single, double and triple reverse plays are also very common. These are effective formations behind a strong line which co-operate with the backs. The old time spinner has been dragged out of the chest, and the lateral pass has been called upon more often than a year ago.

The blocking in most of the struggles is much better than it was at this time last year. There have been few attempts to use the screen pass. Officials have taken it upon themselves to see that no ineligible players precede eligible receivers down the field.

Appointment of Maj. Ralph Sasse as head coach of football at the United States Military academy to succeed "Biff" Jones at the end of the present season was announced by West Point officials.

It was explained that Coach Jones would be forced to relinquish his duties as coach of the Army eleven on account of Army regulations, which prevent any officer remaining at West Point for more than four years.

Carl Hubbell, a former Tiger pitcher now with the New York Giants, hurled the only no-hit game in the major leagues this year, holding the hard hitting Pittsburgh Pirates without a safety on May 8. Hubbell was the first left hander to hurl a hitless game since 1918, when Hub Leonard, of the Boston Red Sox, turned in one of the classics. Leonard pitched his no hit game against the Detroit Tigers.

Heinie Miller, head coach of the Temple university football team in Philadelphia for the last four seasons, has signed a new three-year contract, his coaching term to last until the fall of 1931.

Miller, who is playing his fifth year as coach of the Owl gridders, has produced teams that have won 25 games, lost 7 and tied 2. Miller is a former all-America end. In 1919, while playing for Pennsylvania, Miller was picked by Walter Camp for his first all-America squad.

The popular eastern notion that they raise bigger and better athletes in the California climate doesn't stand much scrutiny. Quite often the California stars are transplanted easterners. Gibson Dunlap, hero of a day in the amateur golf tournament at Pebble Beach, represented the University of California at Los Angeles but he learned his golf in Chicago. Charley Borah, the Southern California sprint ace, came from Massachusetts and one of the likeliest of Trojan football prospects is Gilbert Bartko, all-Ohio scholastic fullback from Toledo. Stanford's famous high jumper, Bob King, also came from Ohio.

Clarence "Red" Ohsner, fullback on the Ohio State university football team for two years, has turned in his uniform and announced that he had decided to give up football. Ohsner declined to elaborate nor could members of the coaching staff explain his action. Ohsner, a letter man for two years, was regarded as the Buckeyes' best fullback.

The Connecticut State Soccer league has just adopted a substitute rule which allows a team two substitutes during a match, but all substitutions must be made 15 minutes before the end of the game. This rule has been in effect in many states, having first been introduced by the Allied league of Philadelphia in the event of injuries to players. The rule will give a team a chance to try out new players.

Indications now are that Clyde Milan will not be appointed manager of the Chattanooga Lookouts. When Joe Engel, Washington scout, purchased the Southern league franchise, announcement was made that Milan, now coach of the Washingtons, probably would be put in charge of the team. Manager Walter Johnson has something to say about the matter, however, and he let it be known over long-distance telephone from Philadelphia that he wants Milan to remain as his assistant.

Upsets, so-called, in football, are now becoming such a regular thing that the gridiron business is getting to the point where there is no such thing as a favorite team.

A new advantage of night football has been pointed out by Coach Hal Baysinger of the Syracuse freshmen, who declares the nocturnal practice sessions make it easy to pick out the "stars" on the Orange yearling squad.

Before going out into the field every football player at Wesleyan is required to stop in front of a full length mirror in the dressing room and view himself. According to Coach Bill Wood, the gridiron warrior is harder hitting in his attack if he can see himself in his war paint.

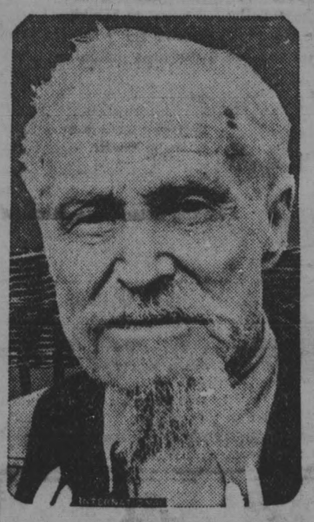
SAW LINCOLN SHOT



Benjamin Church of Lisbon, N. Y., despite his ninety-seven years, remembers with startling clarity the scene in Ford's theater in Washington on the evening of President Abraham Lincoln's assassination, April 14, 1865. Church, a young naval official, was seated opposite the "Great Emancipator" and saw Booth shoot him.

Famous Vatican Library

A curious feature of the Vatican library, in the custody of which Cardinal Ehrle succeeds the late Cardinal Gasquet, is the pains which seems to have been taken to conceal it. You turn aside in a corridor not far from the sculpture gallery, and pass through a glass-paneled door, screened by a grating. Within is a great chamber, exquisitely decorated, but, at a first glance, without any sign of books. The books are there, however—tens of thousands of priceless volumes—but all in closed cases and cabinets beautifully painted to harmonize with the general scheme of decoration.

How About Their Stingers?

Environment

While it is illuminating to see how environment molds men, it is absolutely essential that men regard themselves as molders of their environment.—Lippman.

ONLY A DOCTOR KNOWS WHAT A LAXATIVE SHOULD BE

Danger lies in careless selection of laxatives! By taking the wrong thing that comes to mind when you have bad breath, headaches, dizziness, sour stomach, biliousness, gas on stomach, sluggish bowels, lack of appetite, or nature warns of constipation, you risk forming the laxative habit.

Depend on a doctor's judgment in choosing your laxative. Take one made from the prescription of a specialist in bowel and stomach disorders. Its originator has used it in thousands of cases; found it ideal for women, children and old folks, thoroughly effective for the weak or robust man. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It is composed of senna and other pure ingredients. To get it, in generous bottles, ask for use, at any drug store.

Porky Has Rattle
A porcupine with rattles on its tail was among the interesting animals sent to the Field museum in Chicago by the Kelly-Roosevelt expedition to Asia. Although the animal is widely in construction from the rattlesnakes, they create a sound similar as the animal grows through the grass.

A Sour Stomach
In the same time it takes to drink a soda to bring a little temporary relief of gas and sour stomach, a dose of Milk of Magnesia has actually and thoroughly checked, and the digestive tract all tranquilized. Once you have tried this form of relief you will never worry about your diet and will enjoy a new freedom in eating.
This pleasant preparation is also good for children, too. Tastes better ever coated tongue or baby's tongue signals need of a sweetener. Physicians will tell you that every spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Get the genuine, the name Phillips is important. Imitations do not give the same!

A cry in the night may be the first warning that Baby has colic. No cause for alarm if Castoria is promptly! This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never do the slightest harm. Always keep a bottle in the house. It is the safe and sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. Whenever there's need of gentle regulation. Children love the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it suitable for the tiniest infant, and for frequent use.

And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than some needlessly strong medicine meant only for adult use. Genuine Castoria always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Prescribed by doctors!

The Old Spendthrift!

He has the reputation of being the closest man in the Indiana town he calls home, it even being whispered that he counts the grains of corn he feeds his chickens. It was in the holiday season that he entered the store in mild excitement, telling how his four children, three married and two with one more children, were coming home for Christmas.

Witch Doctors Form Union

The witch doctors of South Africa, tired of abuse and ridicule, have decided to form a trade union to protect their regulation and presumably their "consulting fees." The inaugural meeting of the Dingaka, as the union will be called, was held recently in a public hall in a Transvaal town. Four European medical men attended at the invitation of the witch doctors.

Goes to Hospital to Learn Beauty Aid

Doctor laughed when asked "What cleared my skin?"

"THE first time I heard of it," writes Mrs. E. Whitney of 35 Parker Street, Bangor, Maine, "was when I was at the Hospital. I was very nervous and run down and after my baby daughter was born the doctor began giving me something. In about ten days I felt like a new person. Before then, I was miserable. My skin was in very bad condition and I could not understand what made it clear up so quickly.

"Before I left I asked the House Doctor what kind of medicine it was that cleared up my skin and made me feel so much better. He said 'My dear girl, didn't you ever hear of Nujol? Hospitals aren't the only place where you can get it! You can buy it most everywhere!'

"I have been using Nujol ever since, and I think it is wonderful."

That's the great thing about Nujol. Not a medicine, contains no drugs, can't possibly hurt you, forms no habit—and if you are like most other people its simple natural way of bodily lubrication will do wonders for you, too.

You see, all of us have an excess of body poisons that make our skins sallow, only able to work at half or quarter our real ability. When Nujol absorbs these poisons and carries them off easily, normally, naturally, we just feel like a million dollars.

Try Nujol for two weeks, and see what happens. It costs only as much as a ticket to a good movie, and it will mean so much to you. In sealed packages at any drug store. Start feeling fine, this very day!

City's Fresh Water Due to American Ingenuity

Resourcefulness of an American will give Aden, Arabia, a supply of fresh water for the first time in its history. Heretofore the only supply for drinking and household purposes in the settlement has been distilled sea water. Many attempts have been made to obtain fresh water in recent years, but not until last February, when an American well driller in the employ of the Bombay government succeeded in tapping an underground reservoir, has a supply adequate for the needs of Aden been obtained. The American erected a large, modern drill at Sheikh Othman, a village on the Arabian mainland, and connected with Aden, eight miles away, by a narrow isthmus, and bored until water was struck. The present plan is to pipe the water into Aden and store it in reservoirs for distribution to the city. An adequate water supply and sewerage system eventually will be installed.

Neal's Mother Has Right Idea

Within a few months there will be no more feverish, bilious, headachy, constipated, pale and puny children. That prophecy would surely come true if every mother could see for herself how quickly, easily, and harmlessly the bowels of babies and children are cleansed, regulated, given tone and strength by a product which has proved its merit and reliability to do what is claimed for it to millions of mothers in over fifty years of steadily increasing use.

As mothers find out from using it how children respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup by growing stronger, sturdier and more active daily they simply have to tell other mothers about it. That's one of the reasons for its overwhelming sales of over four million bottles a year.

A Western mother, Mrs. Neal M. Todd, 1701 West 27th St., Oklahoma City, Okla., says: "When my son, Neal, was three years old he began having constipation. I decided to give him California Fig Syrup and in a few days he was all right and looked fine again. This pleased me so much that I have used Fig Syrup ever since for all his colds or little upset spells. It always stops his trouble quick, strengthens him, makes him eat."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name and see that the carton bears the word "California." Then you'll get the genuine.

Jars of Water in Piano

To counteract the effects of hot dry air upon his piano during the winter, E. J. Disler, expert tuner of Tiffin, Ohio, has had success in placing six fruit jars, filled with water, inside the cabinet of the upright. He is careful to keep the containers filled and to adjust them so that they will not touch strings or sounding board. The jars are removed in the spring. "An ideal temperature for a piano would be about 65 degrees Fahrenheit the year around," Mr. Disler declared.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

IRIQUOIS FRIENDLY INDIANS DEFEAT SIOUX GRIDDERS

Monday afternoon the Iriquois Friendly Indians of Central Grammar School defeated the Sioux Indians of Lincoln of Lincoln school in football by a score of 30 to 6. The Sioux were handicapped by the fact that several of their players were unable to be on hand.

Games both for Friendly Indians (boys 9 to 12 years of age) and for Pioneer Clubs (boys 12 to 15 years of age) are being played both in the northern end of the county and in the south for the championship of these Young Men's Christian Association boys clubs. The champions of the north will then meet the champion of the south for the championship of this area.

High School Notes

By LOUISE BENDEICH

Two initiations into clubs of Sequoia have and are to take place this week. A math club initiation will occur November 16.

Initiations into the Radio Physics club took place Tuesday, under the supervision of Mr. Charles Brown, adviser of the organization. Treble Clef, girls' glee club of Sequoia, has set the date of its initiation Saturday. Delta Theta Chi will hold its usual form of initiation Saturday, November 16, with a few changes in the stunts. The candidates are George Aabel, Jessie Alfred, Isabel Sutcliffe, Harry Perry, Jack Cameron, Jennie Kennedy, Burnet Kniveton, Katherine Maloney and Dorothy Van Osten.

The third and fifth period of dancing classes will present a program in assembly Thursday, November 21, under Mrs. Genevieve Robertson, dancing instructor. A small admission will be charged to those wishing to attend. Genevieve Cunningham and Cora Hosford will give solo dances.

ENROLLMENT TO BE 1050 BY JANUARY

At the end of the first semester in January 1930, Sequoia will have a total enrollment of 1050 students is the estimate of Mr. A. C. Argo, principal. In commenting upon the growth of the school, Mr. Argo said, "The fewer number of drops and transfers from Sequoia, and increase enrolment this year show that the school is being adapted to the students and the courses are being made more attractive."

One-half of the net receipts from the sale of Associated Student cards are given to the Sequoia Times every year. This year the Times received $847.52, the net receipts from the cards being $1725.80. In addition $29.50 was deducted for expenses.

FOUR YEAR TERM

The sentence of Enrique Penna, convicted from this county on a charge of attempted burglary, was fixed this week by the board of prison directors. Penna's term was fixed at four years.

Forty-one boys attended, together with Ramon Dimick, Leonard Casanova, and Frank Griffin, coaches; A. C. Argo, principal, and the managers and trainers of the team.
